"Fencing for Fencing's Sake" is to be the anwritten motto of the Fencers' club of Omaha, now full fledged, having its complement of officers and already sixty active members, enthusiasts every one in this most Lewis cured modest but very neat rooms in the Ramge building, and here the men and of Auguste Leon Denis, a graduate of the an ex-master of arms in the French army. Thomas Rogers Kimball is the president of the club, Edward P. Mullen vice president, J. Despecher secretary. Among those who are actively engaged in learning the intricacies of this knightliest of sports may be mentioned the names of Kountze, Garneau, Poppleton, Hall, Holdrege, Patrick, Horbach, Saunders, Kimball, Palmer, Cudahy, Ringwalt, Dandy, Webster. And the club already contains several exceptionally good fencers, among whom are Dr. Despecher and Messrs. Mullen and Clark. The women, however, secem to be more energetic than the men, and in consequence they are showing decided advancement in this sport, in which the in-terest is so close, so intense. There is no pastime in which the expenditure of muscular exertion and head work is so nicely proportioned as in fencing. "You are here in active touch with you opponent; the delicate rod of steel in your grasp is a lightning conductor that instantaneously flashes through your brain the knowledge of what attack your adversary is meditating. Every faculty of your brain, every muscle of your body, every nerve of eye and hand, all are on the siert, and you live more intensely more vividly in an assault of a quarter of an hour than most people do in a week," is paper the way some devotee describes the latest fad of the "400," although one of the oldest of the Hoobler and Crissey.

While a swell wedding was taking place in Trinity cathedral Wednesday evening quite as important a wedding to the people Julia M. Crissey and Mr. George W. Hoobler were united in the holy bonds by Rev. S. Wright Butler, Miss E. Jefferson of Toledo, O., acting as the bridesmaid, Mr. H. G. Streight as best man, the ring bearer being Henrietta Benedict.

The house was beautifully decorated for the nuptfal occasion, palms, roses and chrys-anthemums being effectively placed through-out the rooms. The ceremony occurred under a magnificent floral horseshoe, while back of being richly and effectively garlanded with flowers and ribbons, a cut glass candelabra as a center piece adding to the effectiveness of the decoration. Mrs. Babcock's Reception.

Happy indeed were the women who had functions on hand for Tuesday last, the day being an ideal one in every respect, a day calculated to make all hearts glad, and every woman took advantage weather to enjoy herself and help others to do the same. Particularly was this true of the reception given by Mrs. W. N. Babcock, whose pretty new home was crowded during the receiving hours, 3 to 6 o'clock, with beautiful women elegantly costumed.

The ladies receiving with Mrs. Babcock Mrs. Kirkendall and Mrs. Colpetzer, while Mrs. Drake, Mrs. Metcalf, Mrs. Charles Ogden, Mrs. John S. Brady, Mrs. Victor White, Miss Curtis, Miss Nettie Moore and Miss Colpetzer mingled among the guests, assisting the hostess most charmingly.

The decorations were particularly lovely, with festoons of smilax, ferns and roses everywhere, while the dining room was a delight to the eye, with its dainty design in ferns, roses and violets. Miss Curtis pre-sided over a delicious ice, while Mrs. Metcalf saw that each guest was equally well treated to a more substantial though none the less delicious refreshment, while Miss Moore and Miss Colpetzer were most affable attendants to the lovers of tea and chocolate.

For the Misses Gardiner and Miss Elliott. In honor of Miss Colpetzer's guests, the Misses Gardiner of Clinton, and Miss Cady's guest, Miss Elliott of Chicago, three very enjoyable affairs were given the past week. Friday afternoon a kensington was the order of diversion at Miss Colpetzer's, the evening being taken up with a dancing party. Chrysanthemums and smilax were gracefully used in decoration throughout the house, and the comfortable number of dancers in the evening made it a very pleasant occasion. Yesterday afternoon Miss Cady entertained with drive whist, nine tables being filled with players. Carnations and smilax formed the floral surroundings of the rooms, which were filled during the hours with a gay gathering. Miss Hartman received the first prize, a silk work bag, and Mrs. Ogden won second prize a pretty forget-me-not pin cushion.

BOB MANTELL CHALLENGED. His Leading Lady Seeks Divorce and Her Husband is Furious.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 8 .- E. E. Hume, the husband of Charlotte Behrens, leading lady in Robert Mantell's company, which has been playing at the Grand this week, has challenged Mantell to a duel for alienating his wife's affections. Because of the strict laws in Obio against dueling Hume was unable to secure seconds here, and sent a letter to Mantell asking that he meet him in Covington, Ky., at 11:30. Mantell ignored the request. At the office of the Enquirer Mr. Hume declared his intention of killing Mantell at sight. Mantell's company goes to Chicago next week, and Mr. Hume swears he will pursue Mantell to that city if necessary. Mrs. Hume recently filed suit in nesan Debating society and the Omaha Commercial Literary society took place last Saturday evening. The program rendered 000 for alienating his wife's affections, but declares that Mantell will not enter New York state for fear of being attached. Two years ago Mrs. Hume was named as co-respondent in the divorce proceedings brought by Mrs. Mantell against her husband.

The Schubert Glee club was greeted by a very appreciative and rather enthusiastic audience at their concert on Thursday evening. These young gentlemen are doing some fine work, showing marked improvement at every appearance in public. As a musical organization they should be pushed to the front, where they can be heard more frequently. On this occasion the club was assisted by some good local talent, Prof. Voss-ler rendering two piano solos as only a true musician can do. Miss Timme has the making of a very fine soprano-almost phe-enal, but her effort Thursday evening was greatly marred by a poor accompaniment, much to the disappointment of her friends. A banjo solo by Prof. Cumings, a mandolfa and guitar due by the Zitmann brothers and recitations by Mr. Oastler and Miss Lemon lent variety to the program.

Mr. Roy L. Smith, whose newest composi-ion, "Hearts' Blossoms," words by Ethel M. de Fonblanque, has just made its ap-pearance on the musical editor's table, will be the guest today and tomorrow of Mr. John Mellern. Mr. Smith has shown very strongly in this latest of his compositions a thorough knowledge of harmony, the com-position, which is dedicated to our friend, B. B. Young, and sung by him in Chicago for the past six months from manuscript destined for wide p pularity. It is beautifully noted and deservedly ranks among the very best of this young composer's efforts It is effective and would prove a valuable addition to any baritone's repertoire, although it is written for either voice.

Mr. Loudon G. Charlton, who has won a great deal of praise from his "September," a song which has already touched the 5,000 mark, has just issued two new tions, "Counsel to Girls," words by Herrick and dedicated to Camille d'Arville, the other Mrs. Daniel Wheeler, Mrs. James McKenna. until 11, when a delicious luncheon was "An Ocean Lullaby," dedicated to his wife.

spirit of the words, and will undoubtedly prove a worthy successor to "September."
"An Ocean Lullaby," however, does no seem to be in this young composer's best style, the theme being somewhat more dramatic than is shown in his other songs.
